This nomination of the “Croxley Green History Website Team” for the Hazel Seeley Award is to recognise its achievement in making a collated documentation of the culture and history of the community of Croxley Green that is easily accessible for public viewing.

Historical material on Croxley Green dating back over two centuries has been gathered and collated by local historian and resident Margaret Pomfret during the last 20 years. Margaret was invited to join the committee of the Croxley Green Residents' Association (CGRA) in 2012 as it was realised that facilities and funding was needed to enable her collection to be made accessible to the community and wider public. It was decided that a dedicated website would provide an accessible resource which could grow as further material was discovered and added.

A Croxley Green History Website (CGHW) Team was formed consisting of CGRA committee members and local residents namely Margaret Pomfret, Ross Humphries, Fabian Hiscock, Barry Grant and Tony Munroe. As the CGRA website had already been designed and developed by Ross Humphries, he volunteered his expertise and experience to construct the CGHW. The project started in Feb 2013 and grants from the CGPC and from HCC Councillor Steve Drury's community fund contributed to equipment and development costs. The CGHW consists of 26 main categories each divided into many sub-categories. Historical photographs were restored as necessary and captioned by Margaret; along with a vast amount of word content that needed to be collated for uploading to the website. Local residents Lynn Whitterton and Julia Mathewson volunteered many hours of their time for editing and proof-reading text.

Original hard copy material, often in a poor state of preservation, has now been converted to electronic format, archived and stored securely for access by future generations.

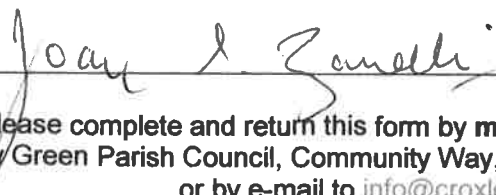

The website was launched at a special community event in December 2015 in front of local council representatives, local organisations and groups along with a selection of Croxley residents. After the presentation the CGHW went live to the public.

The success of this resource to the community and to the wider public is evidenced by over 500visits each week and frequent enquiries from local, national and overseas interested parties.

In summary, the CGHW has been set up by a team of residents of the CG community, who volunteer their time for the benefit of the community and thus is an exemplary community project here nominated for the Hazel Seeley Award. If nomination of the Croxley Green History Website Team for the HSA is accepted, then Margaret Pomfret has agreed to be the nominated representative of the CGHW Team.

Keith and Pauline

Are residents of Hanover Court and Cherwell Close Estate I am their estate manager
Candy Sands.

I would like to nominate these two very lovely people for the Hazel Seeley Award 2017. They have lived in Croxley Green for over 12 years and have always been very helpful to the other residents on the estates. In 2005 they became companions and started up a gardening group which has been partly funded by Hanover Green Shoots which is a small grant fund aimed at involving the community and wellbeing of the people who live there.

They have improved the huge gardens in Cherwell Close renewed hedges made a garden called 'rest a while' with seating for anyone, planted new flower beds, helped with pots outside residents front doors..... To name just a few things they do in the gardens.

These two are both in their 80's and seem to have the energy of 20 year olds they go shopping, take residents to appointments they would otherwise not be able to get to, whatever anyone need they are willing to help out without exception.

They put up all the Christmas lights in Cherwell the whole close is beautifully decorated they organise a light up party on the 1st December every year. As children from York Mead School go home they ooh and arh at the display. To see it is wonderful.

They organise day trips, fish and chip suppers, parties, Sunday lunches, bingo, coffee mornings and much more. The people of Croxley know these two people very well they have touched the lives of so many of us in this little village.

They should win this award hands down.

Thanks

Candy
